For Immediate Release - Reno, NV (2-26-2009) – The Reno Sparks Chamber of Commerce, Northern Nevada’s largest business organization, has launched “Blogging the Legislature,” a new blog that will highlight events of the 2009 Nevada Legislature that affect the business community as they happen.

“The Reno Sparks Chamber works on behalf of Northern Nevada’s businesses every day, especially during the 120-day Legislative session,” stated Doug Kurkul, Chamber CEO. “The decisions made by our elected officials this year could have serious consequences for our business community and our state. We work to ensure that the public policies adopted by our state legislators are conducive to job creation, economic vitality, and quality of life in the Truckee Meadows. This blog will provide a service to our members who are too busy operating their businesses to follow the legislative process on a daily basis. They can now stay informed on the specific issues that affect them.”

Regular updates have already begun. Visitors to the site can even sign up to be alerted whenever the blog is updated, providing real-time information from Carson City.

The blog can be visited at <http://renosparkschamber.blogspot.com>
